

FALL FESTIVAL OPENS SAT. NITE

ROCK ISLAND R. R. PETITIONS
TO DROP 17 SUBURBAN TRAINS

'A Municipal Report'

Because this newspaper has been asked what other villages in the neighborhood of Mokena are doing in the matter of retaining a village attorney we are submitting the following report.

The Mokena board voted at their August meeting to engage Harry L. Schenk, with a yearly fee of $300.00 and an agreement to pay an additional fee for any work requiring extra time.

Previously Thomas Powers was appointed village attorney, his term to run concurrently with Mayor Spiess' term and he got no retainer fee but was paid only for work actually done as follows: in 1948, he collected $35.00 owed the village for title and was paid $10.00; in 1949, he prosecuted a speeder in a New Lenox justice court, collected $45.00 and costs for the village and was paid $25.00. (The Will County Bar association allows a fee of $50.00 to an attorney for representing a village in a justice court.) In that year he also collected $25.00 for an illegally parked trailer and was paid a fee of $25.00; in 1950 he adjusted and advised on several small items and was paid $25.00 for this work. He was also paid $25.00 for work and report on the building code.

Frankfort, population 700, has an attorney appointed for the village but pays him no retainer. He attends meetings when requested by the board and is paid only for legal work actually done.

New Lenox, population 1500, pays a retainer of $600.00 per year to their village attorney. He is paid no other fees and he is required to handle all legal work for the village and to attend all zoning board meetings.

Tinley Park, population 2400, pays $300.00 to their attorney each year and he is required to do all their legal work for this fee, excepting only what they class as their important ordinances.

Orland Park at one time had a village attorney and paid him a fee of $300.00 annually, but according to the spokesman for the board, they found it was much less expensive to retain one when necessary. He added that by experience they found "that $300.00 went a long way toward filling the holes in their streets."

Thomas Matthews, municipal law authority for the state of Illinois and head of the Municipal League, will assist all member villages on points requiring legal advice. The village of Mokena pays a membership fee of $10.00 annually to the league for this service. Matthews is known as an attorney's attorney because of his experience and ability in municipal law administration. It is because of the league that most villages the size of Mokena do not require the services of an attorney by the year.

The Tinley Park board, at their last meeting held August 20, voted to join the Tri-county Home Rule Association which includes Cook and Lake counties. They pay a fee of $10.00 a year, which is based on the population of the village. This association has among its objectives a closer knit relationship between the small villages within the suburban area of Chicago and it fought Chicago valiantly when the large city tried to incorporate the small towns into its "body politic."

Rialto Theatre
Reopens In Joliet

The Rialto Theatre in Joliet will reopen Sunday, September 2 as announced this week by Marvin J. Stockwell of the theatre management. Those in this area were sorry when the theatre closed in the spring.

During the summer while the theatre was closed a large television screen was installed which will be used for boxing matches and other current events.

Among the many outstanding pictures scheduled to be shown there soon are "Alice in Wonderland," and "The Prince Who Was a Thief."

Will Demonstrate Food Freezers

A demonstration of food freezers will be given in the Goodson Implement store in Tinley Park Friday afternoon, August 31 at 2:30 o'clock. This is a good opportunity to learn how to process food and meats for home freezers. Everyone is invited to attend.

(CNS) Hearings on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad's proposal to drop 17 suburban trains have been scheduled for 10 a.m. on September 13.

The railroad petitioned the Illinois Commerce commission for authority to drop the trains, which operate between Blue Island and Chicago, and between Joliet and Chicago.

Rock Island attorneys contended the line has lost $1 million a year on its commuters' service. They said the Rock Island has been losing passengers since 1946, and pointed out that the railroad lost their suburban mail contracts to truck lines recently.

Other trains provide sufficient services on the lines the trains included in the proposal operate, the railroad said in its petition before the ICC. The September 13 hearings will be held on the 19th floor of the state of Illinois building, 160 North LaSalle street, Chicago.

Blue Island-to-Chicago trains included in the proposal are 144, leaving Blue Island at 1:35 p.m.; 162, leaving at 6:37 p.m.; 101, leaving Chicago at 1:47 a.m.; 100 and 102 to be consolidated; 140 and 132 to be consolidated; and 165 and 167, also to be consolidated.

Joliet-Chicago runs included are 263, leaving Chicago at 8:18 a.m.; 260 and 262 to be consolidated; same for 286 and 284; 257 and 255, ditto; 267 and 269, also to be consolidated.

Last month the Rock Island won a 2 per cent fare raise affecting multiple-ride tickets between points less than 7 1/2 miles apart. The city of Blue Island and the villages of Midlothian and Crestwood had intervened in that case.

Attending Bankers'
School at Wis. U.

Russell V. Anderson of Mokena Assistant Cashier at American National Bank & Trust Co., in Chicago, left Sunday for two weeks attendance at the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. This will be his 1st year at the School which requires two weeks resident attendance each year for three years to earn the certificate of graduation. Throughout the year between resident sessions students are required to do extension work involving problems in all phases of banking.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference, composed of bankers associations in 16 mid-western states. Attendance this year will approximate 650 bankers, ranging from junior officers and department managers to presidents, vice presidents and board chairmen of banks from more than 30 states.

The faculty of over 100 instructors consists of bankers who are specialists in their respective fields, practicing attorneys, business executives and members of a number of university and college faculties. The instructors comprise one of the most competent groups of men in their respective professions ever assembled for adult educational purposes.

The present high standards of banking service in communities throughout the country will be enhanced by attendance of bank officers at this specialized banking school.

Rob Orland Drivers
Of Car and Purse

A station wagon belonging to Richard McCollough, of Orland Park, was stolen Friday night, between midnight and 5:30 Saturday morning. The owner, who lives in the Roy Loeb home on Oak street, parked the car in front of the house when he returned home from work.

The machine, a two-toned grey 1951 Willys station wagon, with white walled tires, contained some valuable tools. The police were notified but no trace of the car or contents has been found.

Mrs. Franklin Kruspe, also of Orland, was robbed of a white purse and contents, while she was visiting Mrs. Jerry Parker on a Sunday recently. She left her car on Oak street in front of the home, with the doors securely shut but not locked. When she returned to the car a door stood ajar and she found that her purse was missing. She had taken her coin purse into the house with her.

Lately her bill fold was found beside the road on West avenue but the purse which contained papers, driver's license and identification has not been found. She would appreciate the return of these articles which are of no use to anyone else.

Dust and dirt, rather than smog, are responsible for four-fifths of Chicago's smog, according to Mayor Martin H. Kennelly.

Earl Reish, proprietor of the refreshment stand at 143rd and Union streets, Orland Park, was held up at the point of a gun and robbed of about $70.00. The hold-up occurred about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, August 22, while Mr. Reish was preparing to close up.

The man entered the shop and ordered a bottle of pop from Mrs. Milton Yunker. As she started to serve him he drew a gun, pointed it at Mr. Reish and ordered him to hand over the cash receipts in the till. He told Mrs. Yunker and her son Jimmy, who was waiting for her, to lie down on the floor.

After getting the money he ran out of the store, as another customer was entering, and drove away in a car. The police were called but to date no trace of the thief has been found.

Local Boys Arrive
At San Diego From Korea; Home Soon

A Mokena and an Alpine boy are on their way home. They arrived at San Diego, Calif., Monday.

The Alpine boy, John F. Gorman called his dad from San Diego and talked with him via telephone.

The Mokena lad, Sgt. Graydon Landahl, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Landahl of 115th and Front streets is expected home soon. If affairs go by schedule, he should be discharged from the service about September 10.

Graydon enlisted in the service in Chicago four years ago, just as his parents moved to Mokena. He landed in Japan September 2, 1950 and was a sergeant with the First Marines serving in Korea. He was fortunate in being a survivor of the Chosin Reservoir, and was in the Hungnam harbor from where the First Marines were evacuated. He also was fortunate in not suffering more than having his feet frozen a little.

The group left Korea August 3 and his parents are anxiously awaiting his return. We hope to be able to have an interesting story from both of these boys when they arrive home.

St. Jude's Group
Will Present Two Plays Sept. 14

Something new in local entertainment will be two plays which will be presented in the style of a "theatre in the round."

The plays, a two act Pulitzer prize winner, "Ile" and a comedy, "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet" will be given Friday evening September 14 in the St. Jude's parochial school in New Lenox, starting at 8:30.

The plays are being sponsored by the young people of St. Jude's parish for the benefit of the Christopher club. It is being directed by Joseph Heis of New Lenox.

Saturday is the opening of a big event in Tinley Park, when the annual fall festival will be observed over the week end and Labor Day. The Recreation Commission, which is sponsoring the festival, has left nothing turned out that would make for an enjoyable and entertaining week end.

The Fall Festival will be held at Memorial Park September 1, 2 and 3 and that just means fun, rides, entertainment, games, visiting and whatever goes with the spirit of happiness. Those in charge state that from the opening night to closing there will be continual action.

We are happy to present to Tinley Park a special edition for this occasion, revealing for comparison, a glimpse of the past and a good look at the present, and through this, a look at the future via imagination. The business men of the village have co-operated to bring this special issue to its readers and with the hope that it will be enjoyed and that all, especially those who have moved to the village in the past few years, will learn something of their new home background.

Many are waiting to see the wrestling bout on Saturday night, for which no admission is charged. The Businessmen are giving free tickets to this unusual affair in a small village.

Each evening there will be vaudeville acts, tight rope walkers of high class, and other acts which they will do. This is worth going miles to see.

Everyone likes to see the water fights which the firemen handle. If you have never seen a water fight here is your chance Sunday afternoon when the fire fighters of Orland, Oak Forest, and Steger fight it out. This in addition to the vaudeville acts and the accordion band.

Labor Day will see a big parade, according to plans now in the making. If anyone desires to participate in this you are requested to get in touch with Henry Nolte for information.

There will be rides for the kiddies and adults and something to hold your interest at all times. The Festival will close with grand fireworks Monday night. Read the program for more information.

All Tinley Park says welcome and the editor of the Tinley Park Times and its staff bid you welcome and hope the time spent at the Fall Festival will be happy.

See you at the Festival!

HAVE YOU LOST
A MONKEY?

(CNS)—The Animal Welfare League has a 35 pound monkey that has roamed about south suburban Worth township the past few days.

Monday the League got a call that a monkey was running loose in the Beverly and Oak Hills cemeteries at 123rd street and Kedzie avenue. Groundkeepers at the two cemeteries thought they were seeing spirits as the monkey leaped from tombstone to tombstone.

Yesterday Mrs. Joseph Turner of 2900 West 123rd street called and said that the monkey was stealing apples from her back yard. So humane officer Allen Glish went out and baited a trap with bananas, apples and other fruit. The monkey was caught last night when it revisited Mrs. Turner's backyard for supper. Nobody knows where the monkey came from or who he belongs to. The monkey is very shy and apparently misses its owner.

So who ever is missing a monkey—come over to the Animal Welfare League and pick him up.

CORN PICKER

The John Deere No. 226 Two-Row, Mounted Corn Picker is the practical, economical application of self-propelled picking.

It offers you nimble maneuverability, unexcelled view of work, efficient straight-through handling, easier steering in wet or rolling fields. You get all the advantages of self-propelled picking without the expense of a costly power unit that stands idle for at least ten months every year.

The big-capacity, clean-picking No. 226 has long been the favorite with large-acreage corn growers, seed corn raisers, and custom operators everywhere. It mounts easily on John Deere Models "A" and "B" Tractors. Ask us for free literature.

One World

Lesson for September 2, 1951

HOW rare it is to think of persons simply as persons, without any tags or labels! We think "policeman" or "lawyer" or "soldier" or "farmer" or "Jap-" anese" before we think "man." One of the commonest tags we use is the race-tag. So-and-so is a Negro or an Italian or a Pole or a Mexican or a Scotchman, — at least that is the way he looks to us, even before he is Dan or Tony or Steve or whatever his name is.

We say off-hand, "All Negroes are like that" or "All Mexicans are that way," and we don't often take the trouble to see whether a particular Negro or Mexican is really "like that" or not. But from the Christian point of view, the first and most important fact about any person is that he is a person and not a thing.

A Lower Race

THE story of Jesus and the Samaritan woman shows how Jesus treated a person of a "lower" race than his. We needn't argue the question whether the Samaritans were actually beneath the Jews. In any case, the Jews treated the Samaritans like dirt.

On top of all that, the particular woman with whom Jesus talked at Jacob's well was poor and with no good reputation even among her own people. The disciples were surprised that Jesus talked with her at all. But as we read the story, it is clear that while Jesus "spoke of her condition" as the old expression is, he was dealing with her all the time as a particular human being, not merely as "a Samaritan."

Evidently, to be sure, she was greatly inferior to Jesus, and admitted as much herself; yet this fact did not raise a barrier between them.

A Dominant Race

WE often talk of "race prejudice" as if it were prejudice of top-dog against under-dog. But prejudice runs in both directions. Of course all race prejudice includes a strain of contempt; but a citizen of a conquered nation may despise his conquerors, the weak may despise the strong quite as easily as the other way around.

In the Bible we have an excellent example of a Christian coming into contact with a dominant, that is, a conquering, race: the story of St. Peter and the Roman officer Cornelius.

Peter at first did not want to have anything to do with Cornelius. God had to shake him into it, so to speak. But once Peter saw the point, he saw it plainly: God made no difference between Cornelius and Peter's own people, the Jews.

It was not for Peter to call any man, even an officer of the foreign army that occupied his little nation and held the Jews severely down, common or unclean.

Which is harder: for a Jew to treat a Samaritan like a human being, or to treat a Roman the same way? Which is harder, for a white man to treat a Negro like a human being, or for a Negro to treat a white man like one? It may be hard either way, but it is Christian.

"In Christ There Is No East or West"

AN old Scotch elder tells this story. "My church had invited the youth fellowship of all the denominations in the state to meet in our church, and the officers of our church were to serve the communion on the last afternoon. It had never occurred to me that some of the delegates would be Negroes, but when I stood up to pass the bread and wine, there sat some Negro young people right beside the white ones.

For a minute I thought I couldn't do it. In forty years as an elder in the church, I had never passed the communion plate to any but white persons. But then I thought, after all I am not passing the bread and wine to Negroes and white people, but only to Christians. So I went ahead with it and I never felt such a blessing as I had that afternoon."

The elder had discovered that what Paul wrote is true: in the "new creature" in Christ there is neither Greek nor Jew, slave nor free man; that in Christ's presence the stone walls that divide the human race melt like snow.

LET'S PLAY BASEBALL

HALF SOX DROP STEGER KIWANIS 7 to 4

Tinley Park's representatives in Little League competition, the Half Sox, continued their winning ways by virtue of a well earned victory in the rubber game of the series with the strong Steger Kiwanis team on the evening of August 22 by a score of 7 to 4 to run their string of victories to six.

The game was featured by the brilliant hurling of Ronnie Steger who struck out 13, gave 4 bases on balls and five hits.

The Half Sox attack was spearheaded by Dale Hartwig, the club's leading hitter, who had a single, a double and a triple for his evening's work. Bruce Ralsop also had two hits to add to the total of nine garnered off of two Steger pitchers.

The Half Sox have now won the series from both Beecher and Steger after dropping the opening games. The lads hope to be able to do as well against Peotone on the rubber game of that series to be played Tuesday, August 28 at home.

HALF SOX TO PLAY CHICAGO HEIGHTS ON LITTLE LEAGUE DIAMOND SAT., SEPTEMBER 1

The Tinley Half Sox, who have enjoyed a very successful season against independent teams, will close their season against the strongest opposition in the area in a game to be played in the official Little League Park in Chicago Heights.

The members of the Half Sox, their coaches and many loyal supporters extend a special invitation to all the people of Tinley Park interested in boys to come to the Chicago Heights Little League Park located south of Bloom high school, Saturday September 1 at 1:15 p. m. to watch the best of Tinley's eight to twelve year old ball players try to extend their winning streak against the strongest team that they have faced.

TINLEY PARK PONIES SWEEP SERIES WITH PEOTONE HEPCATS

A team of Little Leaguers ten years old or younger known as the Ponies, took the second game and the series from the Hepcats of Peotone Saturday morning August 25 by a score of 6-0.

Little Jerry Miller stunned the Hepcats with a brilliant no hitter even though his lapses in control had men on base in every inning.

Peotone threatened to score in the second inning when Miller couldn't find the plate and loaded the bases with only one out. Pattengale, the Hepcat 8 year old catcher, sliced a hot grounder down the first base line, Joey Blount speared the ball and fired it home to cut off the run at the plate. Miller then struck out the next man to retire the side.

The Pony starting lineup had six eight year old boys, and the calibre of play of the team indicates that Tinley should have good Little League teams for several years.

State Trains TB Patients

Sixteen sanatoriums in Illinois are cooperating in an effective program directed by the state division of vocational rehabilitation to give bedside and convalescent training to tubercular patients, returning them to society as useful citizens. John D. Reeder, of Clinton (left), received commercial training simultaneously with treatment to qualify as an accountant and tax consultant, and now operates offices in Herrin and Effingham. With him are Miss Betty Deaton and Thomas P. Russell, III, secretary and manager, respectively, of the division's Herrin office.

SPRINGFIELD—A statewide job training program by the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation is giving new hope to persons recovering from tuberculosis.

Medical advances in recent years are restoring increasingly larger numbers of T.B. sufferers to good health. However, much needs to be done to help these persons become productive, self-supporting members of the community. This is particularly important in the field of vocational guidance for those struck by the disease in their youth.

The story of John D. Reeder, 31, of Clinton, a public accountant, demonstrates the effectiveness of the state's rapidly expanding job training program already in operation in 16 Illinois sanatoriums. The project got under way in 1947.

Reeder was a school boy when he was stricken and was confined to Macon County hospital. His plans

"Just Been Thinkin'"

To me a nickname has a flavor that a given name never possesses. Familiarity and friendliness are its predominant qualities, and the truly sociable person usually prefers to use the shortened form of his name. Even among the lower animals which we casually learn to love, we often sacrifice a more affected name for an affectionately simple

PET NAME

Somebody called him "Brown Eyes"

When he was just a pup; And still we call him "Brown Eyes"

Though he is growing up.

It's strange how nicknames echo Throughout the fleeting days And make a dear one dearer In countless little ways...

His name was "Rex" but quickly It proved a thoughtless whim: It did not fit his features And could not tell of him...

His sad and pleading glances Were warm with puppy love— And seemed to want a title He would be fonder of.

And so we called him "Brown Eyes" When he was just a pup— And now we'll never change it Though he is growing up!

TP Kindergarten with cut
The old Vogt home, shown in the above picture, was once a part of the farmstead at 167th and Cicero, and now of special interest in this remnant edition. It was built by Edward Vogt, about 100 years ago; it is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johnson and for the past four years the east wing has housed the Orchard Hill kindergarten.
Carl Vogt, now living on his farm at 183rd street near Ridgeland, was born at the old home as were his brothers and sisters, Ricka, Mrs. Henry Dunbar, and Fred, now passed away. Lena, Mrs. Fred Mager, and William, now living in Minnesota. Their father, Edward, built the home. Their mother was Fredericka Wille before her marriage.
The east wing is the original part of the house and the north section of the large red barn was built at the same time. The grandparents of Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogt, had a small home in the northeast corner of the farm orchard and the remains of the house foundation and the well can be seen there now. The small residence became a store after the death of Edward Vogt and Carl suggests that Henry Vogt, father of the present owner of Vogt's department store, might have learned the fundamentals of merchandising from his experience there.

The farm was the garden spot of the neighborhood and its beautiful orchard contained many varieties of cherry, apple, plum and pear trees. It was the scene of many happy family gatherings and Henry Vogt now fondly recalls the happy days of his boyhood when he visited there.
"On a Sunday after church," Mr. Vogt relates, "when my dad said we were going to Uncle Ed's we could talk of nothing else. I remember climbing into our two-seated carriage behind a team of white horses, with Dad, Mother, Hannah, Etta, Louise, Catherine and Rose. We'd drive down to a big dinner, and there would be about 14 to gather around the laden table."
"It was like a party, like going to Lincoln Park; we could climb trees and enjoyed seeing the farm animals, horses, cows, pigs, chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys; it was a full fledged farm and how we children loved it all."
Today children are again enjoying the freedom and beauty of this historic farm. The kindergarten has given the children of this area an opportunity to see and study the farm animals and has created a wide-spread interest because it is different than other kindergartens.

Somers says. Favorable weather in May and June helped the crop produce so well.
Commercially canned peas from Illinois spread throughout the world markets, the specialist points out. Counties which produced most of the crop this year include Ogle, Lee, Winnebago, Carroll, Kane, DeKalb, Woodford, Ford, Vermilion and Iroquois.
There was also a good crop of asparagus harvested in May and June this year, Somers adds. Prospects of high sweet corn and tomato yields for the commercial canners is also good, if no major weather calamity occurs between now and harvest in August.

IAA Opposed to Plans of U. S. Dept. Of Agriculture

The Illinois Agricultural Association has charged that the U. S. Department of Agriculture is usurping the rights of Congress in seeking to develop government programs and policies.
The charge was made in a statement presented at a meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Mobilization committee in the state office of the Production and Marketing Administration (formerly AAA) August 6 in Decatur. I. E. Parett, public relations secretary of the IAA, presented the statement.
The Mobilization committee is composed of state heads of federal agricultural agencies and meets about once a month with the PMA serving as host.
The IAA which is the statewide Farm Bureau organization with 183,000 members issued its statement as the PMA prepared to present a comprehensive review of the Department of Agriculture's activities and programs with suggested revisions to Illinois farmers through a series of countrywide meetings.
The proposed program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is contained in a 121-page "provisional report and tentative recommendations of the department of agriculture's family farm policy review subcommittee, compiled with the cooperation of non-governmental organizations," and is entitled "Family Farm Policy Review."

Arthur O. Wood, acting chairman of the Illinois Agricultural Mobilization committee and of the state PMA, Decatur, has instructed county agricultural mobilization committees to hold meetings of farmers and file a county report on reaction to the program by Sept. 15. The Illinois PMA office is supposed to file a report based on the county reports with the U. S. Department of Agriculture by Oct. 15.
The Illinois meetings are part of a nationwide campaign by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to secure "grass roots" thinking on its farm program.

The IAA contends that the U. S. Department of Agriculture is attempting through its "Family in policy making rather than Farm Policy Review" to engage confining the activities of the department to its proper roll of administering the laws which Congress enacts.

"We do not believe," the IAA statement pointed out, "a tax-supported governmental agency can produce an unbiased report of its activities. Federal agencies that attempt to influence the decisions of Congress by predetermined reports on surveys conducted by their employees are completely outside their field of legitimate activity."

The IAA also charges that since counties have to make reports by Sept. 15 on the lengthy 121-page "Family Farm Policy Review" that the U. S. Department of Agriculture is really not giving farmers a chance for a real study of the program.

"We question," the IAA statement continued, "the sincerity of top agricultural officials and others who, in such a short period of time, would seek suggestions and recommendations from all rural people on so many complicated phases of agricultural policy affecting farmers. 'We see no provisions in the program to adequately acquaint farmers prior to the meeting with the problems and policies to be discussed.' 'We believe,' F. E. Morris, vice-president of the IAA said in commenting on the report, 'the attempt of the Secretary of Agriculture in this so-called Family Farm Policy Review program is thoroughly political.'"

Among the proposals in the 121-page "Family Farm Policy Review" are many phases of the Brannan plan, according to IAA officials. One of these is the advocacy of direct federal payments to farmers rather than price supports.

Other proposals include free management service for small farms, study of legislation to permit the federal government to buy land, re-divide into family farms and resell, greatly expanded federal crop insurance, and greatly expanded farm purchase and production loans. It also recommends that extension service be free from any operating relationships in any state and county with any general farm organization.

The Illinois Agricultural Association which is a non-governmental organization supported by dues from its membership has consistently fought attempts by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other federal agencies to enter the field of determining public policy.

Good Year For Ill. Canning Crops

Prospects are good that Illinois vegetable growers will reap one of their most profitable harvests in recent years this year.

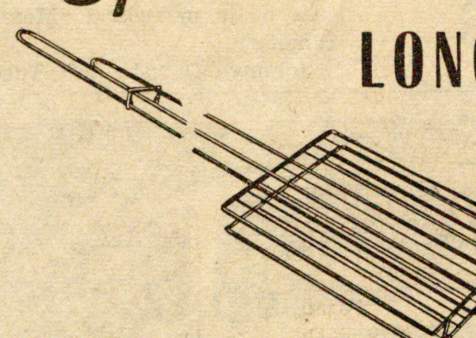

Lee A. Somers, extension vegetable crops specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, reports that one of the states best pea crops has just been packed by Illinois canners.

More than 27,000 acres of peas averaged about 2,500 pounds of shelled peas an acre this year,

The Recreation Commission of Tinley Park, which is made up of representatives of every organization in Tinley Park, for the purpose of taking care of civic projects for the village, is sponsoring the Fall Festival in Tinley Park this Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 1, 2 and 3.

They, as well as all the citizens in Tinley Park, invite everyone, near or far, to come to their village on these days, and have a real good time.

In order to provide a good time for everyone, they have secured the best entertainment among which will be a wrestling bout Saturday evening; vaudeville acts; water fights by neighboring fire departments; accordion band selections; a large parade and closing with fire works Labor day night.

Since highways have become dangerous on holiday week ends it is a commendable spirit when villages and cities provide something that people would rather stay at home and enjoy, having a good time without traveling. This is the object of the Recreation Commission, and it is also their last summer effort in sponsoring a project. Any profit which they might make will all be used for the betterment of Tinley Park.

Join your neighbors and friends and share in the spirit of frolic and be safe.

school building and is in use as such today.

The Village of Tinley Park was incorporated in 1892 and the name of "New Bremen" was changed to Tinley Park in honor of the Tinley Brothers, prominent Rock Island railroad men.

Dr. C. W. Bishop was the first mayor.

The first physician to put out his shingle was Dr. Basset and then came Dr. Bishop.

The first blacksmith shop was opened by James Madden and was well patronized by the farmers of this and nearby territory.

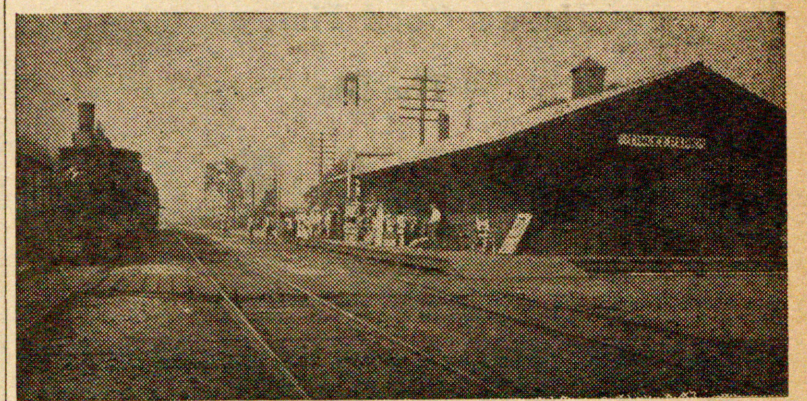

The first meat market was operated by Henry Kammert who continued in business up to the early part of the 1900's.

Grandma Wyman conducted the first millinery store.

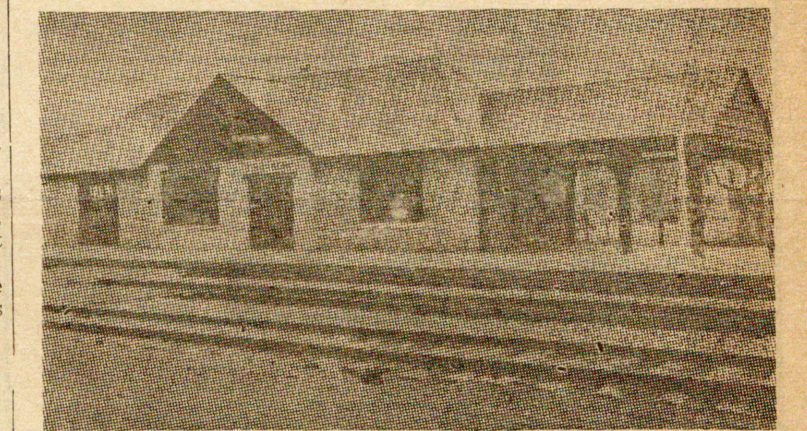

Among the early feed dealers was Geo. Boldt. One of the first farm implement dealers was C. Goessel who operated his business where the Goodson Farm Equipment store is located.

The Tinley Park Saenger Hall building now occupied by the Saenger Hall Tavern, of which Charles Hollwedel is the proprietor, is one of the old landmarks of Tinley Park. It was erected in 1857 by Carl Vogt, brother of the late Henry Vogt Sr. The original Saenger Hall was upstairs over the tavern. The grove adjoining the hall was Here is a picture of an old Tinley Park landmark, the old Rock Island depot, as viewed from the front, on the north side of the tracks, and showing freight unloaded and to be loaded. This depot was torn down in the summer of 1945. It was heated with a large pot-belly stove which was encased with heavy wire.

The modern new depot which replaced the old landmark was built in 1944 and dedicated in the spring of 1945. This modern depot is of brick, located on the south of the tracks and is one that every person in Tinley Park is proud of. Many residents from here commute to their work in Chicago.

The above is a picture of the Tinley Park Hardware store, located on Oak Park avenue which was built a few years ago. It is owned and operated by Charles Smith and he is accorded a good business patronage. He carries a good line of hardware, electrical appliances and other merchandise. Each year he conducts a fish contest in which people in the area enter their prize catch. At the close of the season a prize is given to the owner of the largest fish in a class.

We present here the newest business in Tinley Park, the Wichman Jewelry Store. It is located in the former office of the Service Bakery, which they vacated when they moved to their new home. Mr. Wichman carries a nice line of jewelry and does repair work.

PARKSIDE ROADS COST $13,000

Parkside is a new section of Tinley Park on north Oak Park avenue. It has over 250 homes in its area which are all occupied by owners. They are a progressive group of people who are contributing much to the advancement of the village. Just recently they built 2½ miles of roads in their section which was treated with type A-1 surface as recommended by the state of Illinois for residential purposes.

On the committee for this project were, Bob Chana, chairman; Al Ubert, Earle Palmer, Jim Nellis, Lou Farrell, Bill Haas, Elmer Knudsen, Bill Francis, Eugene Bruns, Jeff Pennington, John Williamson, Frank Mott, Irwin Johnson, George Klaus, section which was treated with

Historical Sketches Of Tinley Park

In presenting this historical sketch of the fast growing village of Tinley Park, many residents will recall when on October 5, 6 and 7, 1945 a big celebration was held to observe its 100th birthday.

At that time William Semmler, founder and editor of the Tinley Park Times, wrote a history of this territory which was printed in booklet form. He had the collaboration of Mrs. Walter Eichelberg of Tinley Park. Quoting from that historical sketch:

Away back when Chicago was just beginning to grow into a city, pioneers came from the eastern states to the west in quest of cheap land and an opportunity to better their conditions.

Along in the early thirties and forties the pioneers came to this section and purchased land for $1.25 per acre.

Along in 1844 John Fulton and his family came from New York state and located on the present Fulton homestead at the north edge of Tinley Park. Mr. Fulton had been engaged in the dairy business in the Empire state previous to coming west.

Other settlers, mostly Irish and English came and soon a settlement sprung up in what is now Orland township but which at that time was known as "The English Settlement." Later many German settlers came and with the building of the Rock Island railroad, Tinley Park came into existence, being first named "New Bremen", presumably in honor of Bremen, Germany from which port many of the German immigrants sailed. At one time Tinley Park was also known as "Yorktown."

Bert Fulton's parents resided on the same farm Mr. Fulton's grandparents had settled on and the present Mr. Fulton's father while still a small boy, saw a Mr. Clark come out from Chicago in 1847 and stake out a site for the first public school house in Tinley Park. The site was located on what is known as "Kirchen Street" just back of the present Zion Lutheran church.

Shortly afterward a school house was erected and Miss Laura Evenden was the first school "marm".

The first building in the village was erected in 1845 by a Mr. Kittle who used it as a store and post-office. It was located at the corner of Ridgeland avenue and North Street. Later it was moved several times and finally George Schreiber bought it and opened the first cobbler shop and shoe store in Tinley Park. He continued to operate his business in the same building until a few years ago when he had it torn down to be replaced by a modern brick building.

The next business house was built on North street in the middle of the block. John Thornworth was the second storekeeper. He also served as postmaster, later removing to Aurora, Illinois.

In about 1865 Christian Andres, Sr., came on the scene and took over the business. Some years later he built the store on Ridgeland and Andres ave.

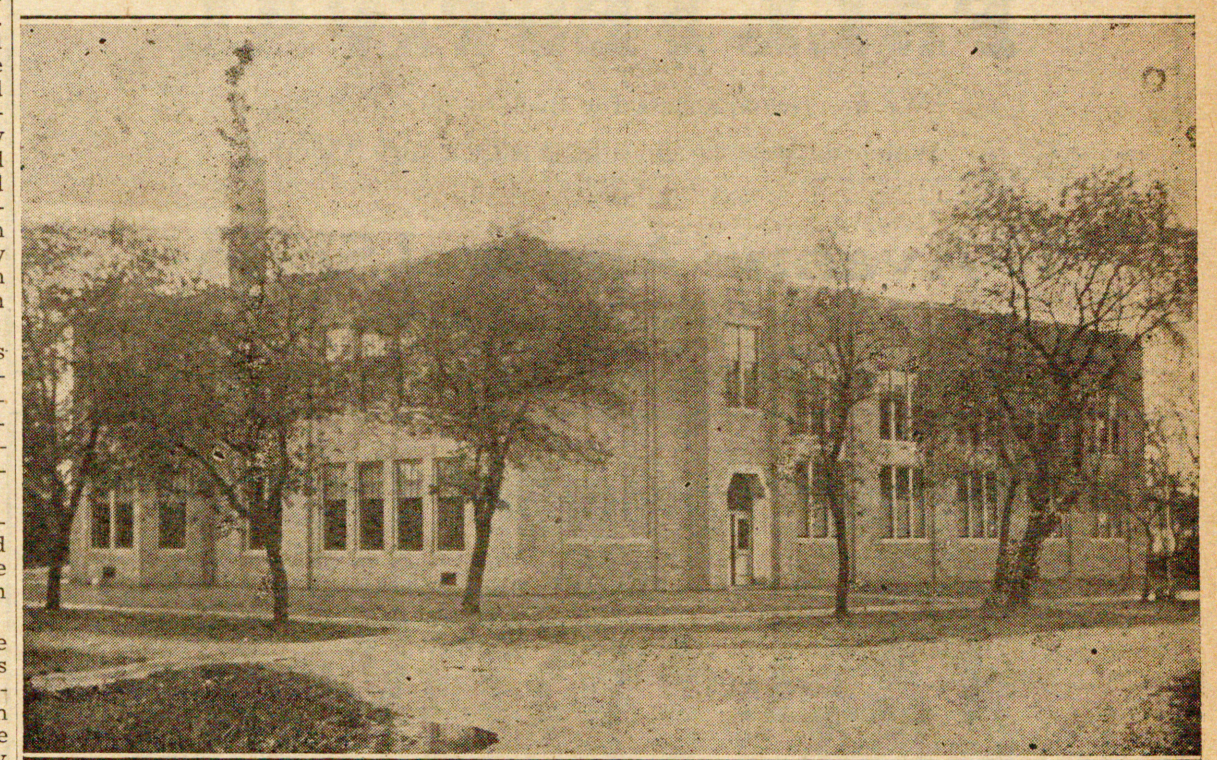

The greatest event in the life of the growing community was the construction of the Rock Island railroad through here in 1852. Nearly everyone in the community got a job helping lay the first railroad track.

An interesting incident is related by the relatives of the old settlers that the Fulton family gave board and lodging to the railroad laborers for 30 cents a day.

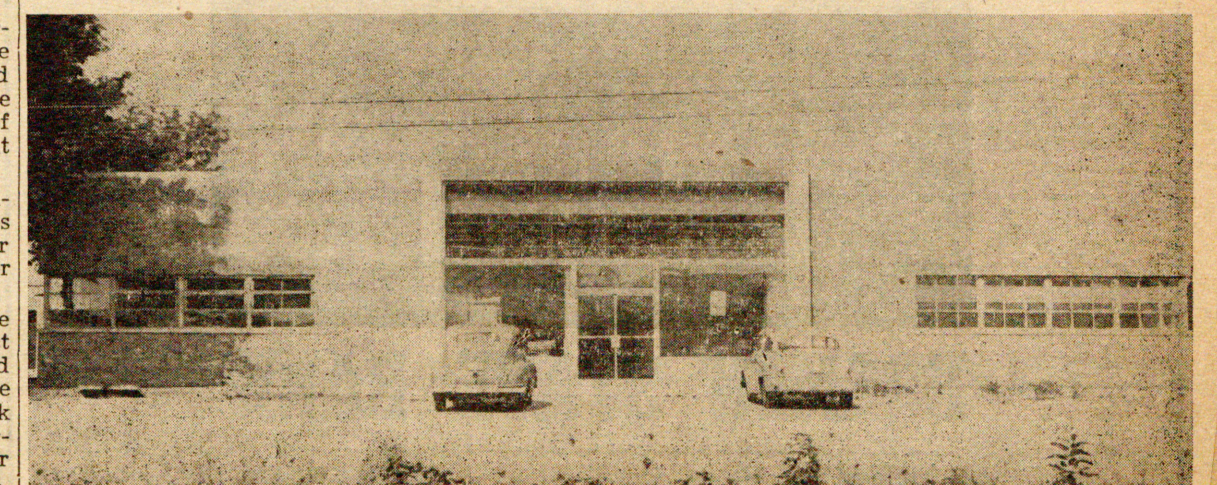

Mr. Andres erected and operated the first grain elevator here and also served as Rock Island station agent. The Andres store changed hands a number of times. John Funk is the present owner.

Another mercantile establishment was started by Charles Vogt in what is now the Saenger Hall Tavern. Later his brother Henry took over the business.

Coming on down thru the years we find that the first church in the village was moved by the Fulton family from the north town line to Tinley Park and was used as a house of worship by the Methodists and later by the Zion Lutheran church. When the present Zion Lutheran church was built the old church was converted into a church

This is the Tinley Park public school showing the first part built and the second addition. Since then another large addition has been added on the east. A second public school is in the process of formation to be built near Memorial Park. Walter Fierke is principal.

This modern building was erected in 1950 (specially to house the fast growing post office of Tinley Park which needed larger quarters. Henry Vogt, proprietor of the Vogt department store, is the owner who planned the building. The post office occupies the entire east half of the building. The other half is office and store space which is occupied by Dr. J. L. Gonzalez, Dr. Alhner, dentist and Dr. G. Vellener, optometrist, and the Jacobs & Copafello radio and TV store. Harry Dean has been postmaster since Oct. 1, 1950. The building is a credit to this fast growing community. (Leland Photo)

The above picture shows the Vogt's department store when it was built in 1886 by the father of the present owner, Henry Vogt. At that time it was called the "Bremen Cash Store". At one time the Tinley Park post office was located in this building.

It is an interesting story of the first Vogt store to its present modernized self-service department store.

The Henry Vogt family have been indelibly associated with the progress of Tinley Park. Henry Vogt, Sr., father of Henry C. Vogt, owner of the Vogt Department Store today, was born in Cook County, Feb. 14, 1853.

His parents came here from Germany in 1847 and after a few days in Chicago went to Bremen township and purchased land in Sec. 28 and established a home. The father died April 10, 1854. Later his widow married John Lawrenz. In 1872 she moved to Tinley Park where she lived until her death, Nov. 18, 1879.

Henry Vogt, Sr., was educated in the common schools and in the Dyrenforth Business College in Chicago. At the age of 17 years he began clerking in a grocery store in Chicago until 1872 when he engaged in the store business in Tinley Park.

In 1874 he was united in marriage with Miss Matilda Wille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wille. To this union nine children were born.

Mr. Vogt served as justice of the peace, clerk of Bremen Township, Mayor of Tinley Park and postmaster. His son Henry C. is one of the leading citizens of Tinley Park today.

When the senior Henry Vogt turned his store business over to his son Henry C., he made no mistake as the latter has proved to be an enterprising business man. At one time he handled a good line of furniture. He grew with the business of which he has been at the helm for these many years.

Following the close of World War II when his son Marvin returned from the service, Mr. Vogt thought it was about time for him to ease up a little and then handed management of the business to his son. That was when remodeling again was done a meat market section added with the self service. They also have a hardware department. Mr. Vogt is still very active and in the store daily and always available for advice and help to his son.

Tinley Product Is Used Through Out
This Country

People in Tinley Park who travel to either coast and drive over large beautiful bridges, and who marvel at the wonders of the large dams in the southwestern states, probably do not realize that in each of these bridges and dams is a product that is made in their own village.

This brings us to a product that is mixed with cement, which is Ironite. Ironite was invented by a former Tinley Park citizen John Rauhoff and his sons Millard and Paul. It is finely ground iron, as fine as face powder, and is mixed with cement to seal out moisture making the cement water proof. When used in walls of large office buildings the walls are covered with knotty pine or other wall finishes and will not be spoiled by dampness.

Ironite when mixed with cement, will rust and thus expand filling in the porous holes in the cement, making it water tight.

At the time of his death about two years ago, Millard Rauhoff was president of the company. Paul Rauhoff, a postmaster at Tinley Park for many years, died a few months after his brother.

PLANE BUILT IN TINLEY
PARK IN 1917

During World War 1, Tinley Park had visions of becoming an airplane manufacturing town, when a man by the name of Goodall started to build a plane in the old Wash Machine factory.

After many months of work he plane was ready for a trial light, but the plane fell to earth after a brief flight and the aircraft building venture ended.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES—

Henry Vogt, Sr. operated the Saenger Hall and also opened a store in this building and in 1886 erected the present Vogt's Department Store which at that time was known as the "Bremen Cash Store".

Over 45 years ago the present

Saenger Hall was added and the original hall over the tavern was converted into living rooms.

Among the proprietors who operated in the years gone by we find Henry Brodthun, John Brookman, Carl Funk, Dick Bruening, Wm. Martenson, Blume & Scharf, F. Blume, C. Funk, Sippel & Sippel, Peter Schwab, George Lorenz, Norman Hanse, Edward Jagla and the present proprietor, Charles Hollwedel.

For many years the Linden Garden was used as a picnic grove and drew thousands of people. This grove is now called Saenger Hall Grove.

Saenger Hall got its name from the German singing societies which abounded in the early days. Tinley Park had a singer group and they used to sing with the Blue Island Saenger Verein.

The first undertaking parlor was opened by Wm. Funk. He also operated the first livery barn. Tinley Park Had Vision of Being A Railroad Junction Point Along in the early 70's, Tinley Park had a vision of becoming a railroad junction point when the Decatur Air Line railroad right of way was surveyed thru here. Carl Vogt, feeling that the village was on the verge of a boom, built a brick hotel at a cost of about $20,000. The building was erected at a point near where the new road was to junction with the Rock Island.

When the big Chicago fire of 1871 destroyed the proposed new railroad's valuable papers and assets, the project was abandoned. The proposed hotel is now a flat building owned by Mrs. James Fulton.

First Factory Built in 1904
In 1904 a boom struck the village when the Spiral Manufacturing Co. was organized and a factory was built on the southeast edge of the village where the Spiral Washing Machine was manufactured. The concern was capitalized for $150,000. The factory was built at a cost of $12,000.

After a few years operation the concern went out of business and later the building was used as an airplane factory, a cresote treating plant and now is used by the North American Mushroom Co.

The above picture shows that portion of the Bettenhausen block where John C. Funk first opened his merchandise establishment in 1901. Note the old horse and buggy, the wooden sidewalks, and the baby carriage with the fancy umbrella.

There is quite a contrast of scenes between the picture of the first Funk store and the one following which was taken last week. Now this block houses the remodeled and modern Funk Food store in which Mr. Funk is assisted by his son Robert.

Next to the Funk store is the large Bettenhausen Hardware store which does a large business in hardware and electrical appliances. To the south of this store is the Cavett drug store with the Tinley Park Radio store, owned and operated by William Schultz. Next to the radio store is the Chappy Gift Shoppe, owned and operated by Mrs. Helen Chapman. She carries a nice line of women's and children's dresses, notions and gifts. Mrs. Chapman started her store in one of the smaller rooms in this block but has now enlarged it and takes in a larger area.

The Bettenhausen store block, known as The Andres block, was remodeled by Henry Bettenhausen in 1950. After the post office moved from this building to their present new location, the hardware store expanded into the former post office quarters.

The result is a modern hardware store where anything in the line of hardware, stoves, electrical appliances, paint etc. can be bought. They do a large plumbing business in connection with their store. People from a large area come there to trade. They had the official opening of the remodeled block on June 16, 1950.

When Oak Park avenue was resurfaced a year ago, the street was extended from curb to curb through the length of the village which makes a good wide street.

The store now occupied by the Cavett Drug Store was first owned and operated by Henry Boldt as an ice cream parlor along about 1932. Mrs. Dini took over that store from Mr. Boldt and kept it until her death. Then Mr. Gonia, of Chicago, came to Tinley Park and opened the village's first drug store in 1934. In the ice cream parlor, Mr. Gonia did not stay very long in Tinley, and about 1937 he closed it out and moved to Wisconsin.

Mr. Alan Cavett, a young enterprising man, came from Chicago and worked in the Stolte Drug store in Chicago Heights. Mr. William Stolte was a Tinley man who gave the first strip of land for a cemetery on 167th street. Later the Vogt family donated adjoining land which makes a good size cemetery.

When Mr. Gonia closed his drug store in Tinley Park Mr. Cavett saw an opportunity and in December 1937 reopened the drug store. Because he has been a pleasant, kind and accommodating person, and a good business man, the business grew. He has re-opened the old store, added more merchandise and many clerks.

For all this Mr. Cavett deserves to be complimented, but not as much as his new business venture. We are glad to announce that Mr. Cavett is planning to open another drug store in Tinley Park. This is to be located in the new group of stores on north Oak Park avenue exactly north of the English garage where building operations will start in two weeks. Mr. Cavett expects to be in his new place of
